Woodrow Wilson's Work Offers Much More Than Taft's Idea

Canadian Lumber Market Made Greater and Fisheries Also Helped.

London, Oct. 9.—The Financial News in one of its articles today, says that the most interesting feature of President Woodrow Wilson's work, is that this gives Canada, for practically nothing, all that ex-President Taft promised in return for considerable sacrifices which were demanded under the reciprocity agreement.

Conservatism, the effect upon current Canadian trade, the News declares that as Canada is not likely to admit anything from the United States free, it is probable that the work will remain a dead letter for respecting these things. The fact that the Canadian lumber has been enlarged, but the Canadian production almost equal to that of the United States, the expansion of American saw and pulp mills at the expense of the Canadian saw, materials.

SIR WILLIAM TAKES PLATFORM FOR MR. FISHER

Present Day Conservatives Not Those of Sir John A's Day Says Speaker.

TARIFF OF 1897 WAS NOT MADE FOR ALL ETERNITY Canada and Other Colonies Fleets Do Much to Retain Peace of World.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—At a public meeting held here yesterday afternoon in support of the candidature of Sir Sydney Fisher, Liberal member in Chateaugay, the speakers included Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. George W. Graham, Hon. Charles Macdonald, Mr. J. L. Coder and Mr. Fisher himself.

In opening, Sir Wilfrid deprecated the stronger cry made against Mr. Fisher because he lived a few miles outside the country boundary, and urged that he be given the freedom of the country by being placed at the head of the list of candidates.

Referring to the present government, the Liberal leader charged them with forgetting Canada's interests by "dubbing in imperial affairs." Home affairs, he declared, demanded more attention than any imperial question and he urged Mr. Borden to have the empire to Mr. Asquith.

The speaker then mentioned that the Liberals had been told the tariff was their own; that it was passed by Mr. Pelling in 1897. That is true, Sir Wilfrid admitted, "but that tariff was not made for all eternity." He urged the government to a revision, admitting such revision was a reliable operation, but then told them not to hesitate and do what has to be done.

On the naval question Sir Wilfrid referred to the four imperial conferences he had attended, and the consistent attitude he had maintained that Canada should be a naval power, not a naval ally, as well as a land, sea and air power.

Farmers are thoroughly wrought over the continued thefts, and have organized a vigilance committee, which is on the watch constantly, several members being engaged night in riding through the country infested by the crooks.

THOUGH ONLY 14 YOUTH HAS A LONG RECORD

Juvenile Court Dealt With Many Cases Yesterday—Roy Peky Returned to Mother.

It was a very lengthy list that faced Archibald, J. yesterday when he sat down this afternoon to preside at the juvenile court. Nothing could be more pathetic than when little Roy Peky faced the judge. The boy had been brought in from his home by Officer Day of the department for neglected children. The father, who is said to be a drunkard and a ne'er-do-well, according to Officer Day, did not provide for the boy, but took all his earnings to buy drink and meals. Officer Day stated that the boy on several occasions had to sleep in the open as the father was said to be drunk and refused to let him sleep at home. The mother, who is parted from her husband, is staying in Calgary. The father is now serving a term in jail.

The boy, when asked by the judge what he wanted to do, replied that he wanted to return to his mother. After giving him some kindly advice the judge handed him over to the department for neglected children. He is to be sent to his mother.

Free Kidney Youth.

In contrast to the above was the next case on the docket, Fred Stein who was charged with the theft of $180. Although only 14 years of age he was styled as a notorious character. When arrested in Calgary by the police for being intoxicated in a restaurant and sitting on a table he had in his possession a loaded revolver and some cartridges. The judge, after hearing all the evidence, decided that there was sufficient proof to commit him of theft, but on account of his previous record he was handed over to Superintendent Chabot to be dealt with as he thought fit.

Six boys were summoned from the south side on various charges, one boy for shooting a pig, two for shooting at electric signs, and three for breaking windows. They were all let off with a warning and a fine ranging from $2 to $5.

NEVER TALKED WITH BUCK SAYS LATE OFFICER

Samuel Wright, Formerly Inspector of Police, Claims Untrue Statements Are Being Made About Him.

Regarding the "recent dismissal" of Inspector Wright of the city police force the ex-officer stated Tuesday to the Capital that rumors that he had any interview with Inspector Buck are entirely untrue.

"Statements have been made that I had an interview or arranged to interview Inspector Buck," said the ex-officer. "These were entirely untrue. I never had an interview with the inspector on any matter prior to my dismissal. Until some time after my dismissal from the force I did not know Inspector Buck personally or by sight, and have no recollection of ever having seen him before my dismissal."

BARBERS' METHODS SWEETENED BY POLICE JUDGE

$25 and Costs for Overcharging Patrons Paid by Local Barbers.

MAN OFF GRADE GETS BIG BILL HANDED HIM

One Man's Goods Seized Because He Hadn't Enough Money for Barber Bill.

Combing methods used by some of the barbers in Edmonton to extract coin from the pockets of patrons by doing more work than the patron called for, and then charging them exorbitant prices, were given a severe jolt in the police court yesterday morning when Magistrate Hefferman fined two barbers $25 and costs each, with an order to refund the difference of the bills that had been paid by the complaining patron.

Tom Palmer walked into the barber shop run by Abraham Hiller, in the St. James hotel, and sat down in a chair, called for a haircut. While he was having this done murrings washed by weak kidneys. I was unable to wash any clothes for over two years on account of my back being lame. I read the Almanac and began using these pills. Two boxes made a complete cure. I can do my own washing and other work now, and want to say to lady friends that they do not know how much I appreciate Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Pays $450 for Haircut.

Cosmoline Margules, recently in from some grade work, entered the barber shop at 311 First street and placed himself into the chair of James Edwards. He called for a haircut, and during the operation of having his locks shorn it is alleged that Edwards told him that his head contained, on things than hairs, and suggested that a little chemical treatment would bring about the necessary though not desired results.

Margules does not understand English very well. Edwards stated plainly that he captured a live one, and, killing it between his finger nails, placed it upon the palm of his hand and passed it before Margules' eyes, in order to substantiate his assertion that a little chemical treatment was in order.

The unsuspecting foreigner said in court that he was not in the condition as described by Edwards, and that he had only called for a haircut.

When Margules got out of the chair he was given a bill calling for a little sum of $4.50. He had only $2.50 and a small package of soap with the other $2.00. Margules did come back, but not with the two dollars. He had Detective Guerin with him. When an explanation was asked, the bill was knocked down to $2.50. This reduction did not help matters any for the barbers, and Edwards and the proprietor were hauled into court.

Edwards stated plainly that the complainant's head was "lousy." Again did Assistant Prosecutor Ralph cross-examine both the complainant and defendants, with the result that Magistrate Hefferman imposed a fine of $25 and costs, with the alternative of one month's hard labor on Edwards, and ordered that $1 be refunded to Margules, together with the return of the clothing that the barbers had seized.

During the hearing the complainant made a statement to the effect that he had intended to put a stop to the outrageous tactics used by some of the barbers of the city, the public no far as it was in his power to do so.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION—DAILY CAPITAL BUILDING, 623-825 SECOND STREET

THE PENALTY WHICH THE OPPOSITION WILL PAY

This is the penalty which the conservative party will pay in the days to come for their superfluity at the present time.

Upon such a test the street numbering scheme is bound to fail. The more the ratepayers realize its inconsistencies and cumbersome the less likely it is to gain public approval. How absurdly impossible it would be to apply an equilateral system of numbering to the crazy-quilt designating of the Eastern side of the river. The map of the city gives one glance at the map. So completely does the lack of uniformity with which various subdivisions have been laid out, defy any attempt at consecutive numbering that to try to apply the same must lead to worse confusion than anything possible. Under the present system, just one instance will illustrate the absurdity. The street between 100th street, becomes 101 street. Howard avenue, three blocks long, although one of the central streets of the city, is disposed of as 100A street—a designation carrying with it such a suggestion of a lane that ratepayers who value their holdings thereon at $100 and a pepper for the 99th street, might well call it 100A street. Queens' street, the 98th street, is 98 street and Nantamyo is 97 street. These five streets, First to Nantamyo inclusive, take in the main business section of the city and between their lines and south of the boulevard is the most thickly settled area within the limits. Yet, as the map of the city will show, the streets between the Boulevard upon any of the streets mentioned except Nantamyo and First, and when he follows Nantamyo beyond the Boulevard he discovers that the 97 street which; when he started north upon it, was the fifth street from 101 street, has become the very next street, and although he is still going along the same street, he has come to the 98th street. The Boulevard, just one block removed from 101. If he follows north from Jasper upon Fraser, which was to have been 98 street, he finds himself eventually upon 101 street without ever having left the street upon which he started out. And if he looks back, he will find that the 97th street, which he has been in vain unless he has first been furnished with a key to the system through which he may figure

Any consideration of the situation will show that the proposed street numbering scheme is nothing better than an unworkable fad, and that if the city is to be protected there must be a plebiscite at which it can be voted down. For the administration to attempt, as the Journal proposes, to thrust the system upon the city without the ratepayers' consent would be outrageous.

Calgary is to establish a prison farm. But if they have to go beyond the subdivisions to find a site the short-termers will serve most their sentences going and coming.

CHRIS MATHEWSON PITCHES GRANDEST GAME OF CAREER

under the 'vase' and safe at the back. Mathewson drove a long single to centre field and Strudgers ran as fast as he could and just beat the throw in to third. The latter pitcher moved to second on the play. While here he noticed the crippled Strudgers. Herzog bounded a grounder to Plank, who caught. While between Plank and home, and he was run down by Lapp, who raced almost to third to get him. Mathewson moved up to third on the play and Herzog took second. The Athletics pulled back in to get the nearest runner, but they did not have to do this, for Bluff field out to Oldling after having three balls and two strikes.

Athletic Moved Down.
The American League champions were quickly disposed of in their half of the first. Plank was thrown out, Doyle to Witte, who required Strudgers at first base. Eddie Murphy, changing his style of play, tried to get away with a safe ball, and Mathewson fielded the ball in the style and got the runner at first. Then a fast grounder to Herzog, who made a pretty throw to Witte, retiring the side.

New York rooters shouted for Fletcher to "start something," when he went to bat in the fourth inning and he responded by eluding the ball to Barry, who made a "pop" and threw to first, getting the ball there ahead of the runner. Burns still made to solve the puzzling cross-fire of Plank, struck out for the seventh time and quick cheering on the part of the home crowd. Shaffer hit a grounder to Baker, who had out of time to get the error. McGraw, who was coaching at first base, said something to Shaffer and the latter later he darted for second in an attempted steal, but Lapp's throw to Collins beat him and he was out.

Looked Bad for Collins.
In the Athletics' half of the fourth, Collins hit to Mathewson, and was out at first. Baker brought the fans to their feet by driving a hot single to right field. Doyle got his fingers on it as it shot past him on his left side, but only deflected the ball. Baker went to second on McGraw's hit to Witte. Mathewson had two strikes on Strunk, who lost his sense of location for a moment, and the Athletics' batter got to first base on ball—the first of the game. With two runners on base and a healthy man at the bat, the crowd cheered for a run. The runner was Witte, who hit the ball, but it bounced slowly to second, where Doyle scooped it and touched second, retiring the side. This was the second time in four innings that the Athletics had two men on the bases.

New York managed to get two men on the bases in the fifth inning, after which Plank lightened up. Murray drove a fly out, which outlining exactly how, and McGraw got his first hit of the game by watching a single close home the ball. Plank hit. Witte failed to advance him by striking out. Mathewson worked Plank for a base on balls. It was then up to Herzog, but the third baseman drove out at Collins and he was out at first. Cather Lapp was an easy out at first. Plank's first hit was a single between first and second. He was left there, however, as Murphy drove a long fly to Burns, who backed almost to the bleacher seats in left field, to make the catch, and Oldling was thrown out at first by Fletcher.

The sixth inning was quickly over, both pitchers were going in magnificent style. Doyle sent a weak grounder to Plank, who tossed him out. Fletcher sent up a weak foul that McGraw got under, and he was out. Murphy took care of Barry's long fly. In the Athletics' half Umpire Connolly was hoodwinked when he called Collins' grounder a foul. The ball was bounding along the third base foul line when Herzog got it and dropped it, the ball falling on foul territory. It was the second strike of Collins' and he was called out on strike at first. Herzog took the next ball across the plate. Baker drove a wicked grounder that looked as if it were to go to centre field, but Fletcher managed to get up to it as it hit the spot over second and made a throw to first while on the run. This was one of the best fielding plays of the day and brought forth much cheering. McGraw struck out.

In the seventh inning Shaffer, for New York, tried to Strunk. Murray put up a fly that Barry took in without any trouble. McGraw drove a long fly to Oldling. Burns Scintillates.
One of the best catches of the day was made by Burns, who ran in and got Strunk's short fly almost off the ground. Barry hit to Herzog, who made a pretty throw to first, ahead of the runner. Lapp sent a single past Witte, but was left out first when Plank sent up a pop fly to Doyle.

With the eighth inning beginning and both pitchers going as well as when they started, it looked like an extra inning. A ball must spread over the ball park, getting the two pitchers a little more acquainted over the battery. Witte of New York's half, popped out Collins to McGraw. McGraw, who seemed to have in trouble in making Plank, snatched a hard drive to right field. Murphy barely got up to the ball, picked it off his shoe top, and turned a home run. He held the ball, however, and Umpire Egan, who was in right field, signaled that Murphy had made the catch. Herzog hit a fly to right field which Strunk had to do some sprinting to get.

Mathewson's first real trouble came in the eighth inning, with the help of the Athletics' battering order up. Murphy grounded out to Witte, who was playing a fine game around first base. Oldling was the second out, Fletcher to Witte. Collins brought the crowd to its feet by shooting a single into left field. Again the cry came for Baker to hit a home run, and he responded with a sharp single to left field, Collins being held on second. McGraw ended the inning by forcing Collins at third. Herzog making the out on Doyle.

The ninth inning opened with Doyle flying out to Strunk. Fletcher grounded out to centre field for a base. Burns provided a base on balls and Fletcher grounded to second. There was some excitement as the crowd's breath at the prospect of scoring, but the New York players were doomed to disappointment. Shaffer hit to

DEACON'S ESKIMOS REJOVENATED TEAM

Large Squad Reporting This Week Preparatory to Saturday's Game

The Edmonton Eskimos are a rejuvenated team. Whether it was standing on the side lines last Saturday watching the Varsity and Tigers tear at each other or the prospects of an approaching game which rekindled the fire of battle in their veins can not be said to suffice it to say that there is a decided renewal of interest in the grand old game of rugby and the players are all turning out to practice and Catch White smiles once more.

All this week the squad has been holding good practices with a full turnout of the regulars and subs. Several of the new men who came out prior to the game with the Varsity are making good and the prospects are that the team which goes up against Varsity Saturday afternoon will be entirely different proposition than that with which the collegians had to contend with at their last meeting.

It will be necessary however for the Eskimos to present a stronger team than at the last contest with the Varsity. The Eskimos' last game was showing marked improvement in their game. Captain Logan has instilled a lot of spirit into his men and those who saw the game they played against the Tigers were of the opinion that the Eskimos will have to step some to keep up with them.

Saturday's game should supply a basis for conjecture on the probable outcome of the Eskimos-Tiger game on Thanksgiving day. Coach White thinks his squad can run up a bigger score on the Varsity than did the Tigers last Saturday and he intends to give all his substitutes a chance to work too.

Edton, a former Nebraska University football player, has turned out to practice with the Eskimos of late and looks well.
